VOLUME 8.

CLARKSVILLE, TENN., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1857.

-NUMBER 15

Business Tards.

JOB WORK!

J. M. Bloks Beler in Staple & Fancy Dry GOODS.

ATS, BONNETS, BOOTS, & SHOES, CHI en and Glussware &c., &c. No. 9 FRANKLIN ROW ad WINTER GOODS, large cheap and for sale. Bept 14'55'f

Sa. A. QUARLES Quarles & Poindexter. ATTORNEYS AT LAW.

Will practice in the Courts of Montgomery Stewart, Robertson, Dixon & Humphreys count-Particular attention given to the collection of epril 20, '55-tf

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 1, 1856. THOMPSON GREENFIELD becomes a partser in our firm from this date. FELLOWES & CO.

FELLOWES & Co. Commission Merchan No. 149 Common st., New Orleans.

BANIEL P. LOGAN, sep 8, '56-6m

OLDAHM, PETTUS & CO., TOBACCO SINILAINES FORWARDING AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS, TRICE'S LANDING, TENNESSEE, . O. EERABE.

Meesee, Blackman & Co., WHOLESALE GROCERS,

COMMISSION and FORWARDING MICROHIANTS

Dealers fir Iron, Nalls, Cotton Yarns Sea W 7 1 18 3 . W . Q

TOBACCO SALESMAN. Fic Proof Warehouse.

Sale Days Tuesdays and Thursdays,

JOSEPH M. JONES, TOBACCO SELLER. Forwarding, Storage and Commission NE HO EC CI EU A NIT.

Pre-proof Warehouse, Linwood Landing, one mile boow Trice's Landing, on Cumberland River. Sopt. 28, 1856-11

Dr R. D. McCauley,

Late of Louisville, Ky., offers his professio mel services to the citizens of Clarksville and perrounding country in the various branches of of Bryarly and McCauley; residence at W. . Valliant's, opposite the Cumberland Pres-Wierian Church

B & KIMBLE. Serar Tenne

KIMBLE & BROADDUS. Office over Hornberger and House CLBARKSVILLE TENNESSEE.

Dr. E. R. Dabney, OFFICE on Strawberry Alley under Chronic April 4 '55-tf.

Bryan & Robinson.

7 1 amp Street, New Orleans. No liabilities incured, except upon produce in hand : please rend annexed statement New Onleans, 24th March, 1856

LEVY & SUMMERS, JOS. W. ALLEN HEWITT, NORTON & CO., PERKINS & CO. WILLS, RAWLINS & CO., R. EATMAN, A CO MOORE & VANCULIN FELLOWES & CO., JAMES TURNER T. GREENFIELD

April, 4 '56. A Superior Seamstress and Cook for

A very superior Seamstress, Cook, and Lanndress for sale, 22 or 23 years old, with no chil-Nov 14, '56-tf

A NEW FIRM.

Johnson & Humphreys,

WE are prepared to execute Clarksville, Tennessee, at this Office, with neatness and TTORNEYS AT LAW, at this Office, with nestness and saints in the Counties of Monigomery Stewart, saints in the Counties of Monigomery Stewart, Robertson and Dichaon, Tenn. size in the Counties of Christian, Took, Logan and Trigg, Ky. January 1st, 1856

We will also act as general opents in the purchase Mansaction of business of every kind.

New 30 1856-tf.

HAVE bought John H. Pritchatts entire luteres in the House of S. A. Fraser & Co., and will con-NEW FALL GOODS. Staple and Fancy Dry Goods is large and well selected. We have a good lot of heavy goods, Boots Shoes, Blankets, and Hats. Ladie's Dress goods, examine and by strict affection to business we hope to be able to give satisfaction to those wha fa-

If you wish to get a good and lasting lik-ness light Daguerrean Gallery, west side of the Square above the Democratic Reading Room, the only place where that new and beautiful style of picture the Melainotype, is taken -- they having purchased the right. Give them a call, examine their variou styles, and then judge for yourselves. Ambrocare. 17 Ambratypes taken for $1 50. Clark ville, Dec 5, '56tf

THE PROPERTY OF

f his own manufacture. Call and see for your I hear a dear, familiar tone-A loving band is in my own-

I would not have let go that hand;

What ill to find, what good to lose,

THAT same evening there was a clear light who prefer their Medicines rakes and ross, would hands lying upon the table, and his head res quested to give him s call, as he is confident observer might have seen that there was he can sell them at lower rates than they can buy bright, red spot upon either cheek, while his brow was knit, and there was an unusal, alone in the store will be allowed to put them up the window, and shading his eyes with his entered. His father did not appear to notice his entrance, and, after passing awhile, the Young man aked-

"Did you send for me, sir ?"

ed a chair toward him with his foot, and is spoken like my own son," was Mr. Gordon's The mist was rolling up from the mountains, ed leaning on the arm of a fine-looking man. And he learned to love her deeply-devotedly. motioned him to be seated. "I have a few answer, as he cordially shook his hand. "I but it yet lay heavily shove the bed of the old enough to be her father. She was, inde d, His heart thrilled at the sound of her roles, eye witness of the love-scene that took place you will but yield to the suggestions of your could reach. It seemed to Lily that earth was grace and elegance of her movements, the soul touch of her fair hand. He would have taken I was no spy or eaves-dropper," he continued, Frederick Gordon slept not that night. We nelody in her young heart as she stood by the Sporting Apparatus, and Miscellaneous and as the color flushed to Frederick's face, and he will not attempt to follow the workings of his open window, istening to the thrilling of the THE FASTEST AND FINEST STEAMBOAT there, just as the girl was coming to her senses, not falter, he signified to his father his readle comes the approach of the May god. When, day night, passes up for Noshville every Monday Passengers for New Orleans will be sure Romeo !"

"Lily Grey, sir," was the laconic reply. "Lity Grey! And who, pray, is she ?" believe, who has been spending the last three In this cause it appearing to the astisfaction of months with Mr. and Mrs. Mason. I presume the Clerk & Master from the oblivations in the bill the affidavit thereto that the defendants Jo C. Yn horough, and J. W. Cloggett, are nonresidents and aunt."

esse of law cannot be served upon them. It is said Mr. Gordon, a therefore ordered that publication be made in the Clarker ite Chronicle, a newspaper published you love this girl !"

so, I conclude, as I had the pleasure of hearing sought her own chamber. Histily throwing wheels. She looked from the window and the same will be taken for confessed and set down the declaration a little while sgo."

is lip, "that I shall doubtless be lead as a of plaster." amb in this matter. Allow me me to say, other to be driven.

ferent aspect. I came here is you know, my cesses by light from within, light that depend- you saw him yesterday !" ness, a poor man, poor throug the fraud and that of the sun at noonday. say nothing of your expectations at my de- ter. Lity? What has happened?" that wealth can give will be lavished upon the increasing darkness.

words in his mind. He was not naturally the other's keeping. eginning to struggle with Love.

neked.

again there was a long pause.

this matter in my own room."

half-rose from his chair: "You may as well mind. Suffice it to say, that the next morning, birds, the low murmur of the water-fall, and in his breast an interest for which he could Frederick Gordon loved disinterestedly. keep cool, young man. I was passin near with a pale cheek, but with a voice that did all the sweet sounds with which Nature weland I could not well avoid seeing and hearing ness to adopt the plan proposed by him the her simple toilet completed, she descended to a rich embroidery of silver and costly pearls did thy image never haunt him! Did no the's

> New York this evening, and you will then might have arranged her ireas with rather hardly have time to make the necessary pre- more care than usual; for in those primitive parations there." And he harried away to days it was not considered recessary to attend whom we left so unseremonlously at Mr. sppeared. Hour after hour of the afternoon "Poor as a church mouse then, of course." Mason's gate, after her adventure in the woods rolled away, and still he cane not. She lissaid Mr. Gordon, quickly. "Frederick, do with Frederick Gordon. Whon she entered tened, with a beating heart toevery approachthe bouse, she did not, as usual, repair im- ing footstep, and wondered what could keep mediately to the common parlor or sitting-room him from hor side. At length she heard in "And have been foolish enough to tell her as it was called, but ascending the stairs else the distance the the sound of approaching off her bonnet, she approached the small mir. eaw Mr. Gordon's carriages skwiy toiling up ror, and slowly removing the handkerchief the bill, and, chrinking behind the curtain, she my friend, Mr. Gordon." There was a low words of love in the car of another?" "Well, sir, let me tell you, once for all, that which was fastened around her temples, en- watched it as it drew nearer and nearer .- bow on the part of the gentleman a courtecon

> > CHAPTER IV. '

GENERAL AGENCY AND LAW OFFICE The Clarksville Chronicle. his foolery must have an end? I can never desvored to ascertain the extent of the injury There was a figure upon the back seat, cheely saluration on that of the lady, and after a few eceive Miss Lily Grey as my daugher-in- she had received. She found that it was noth- muffled in a clock, which did not seem to be communicate remarks. Elicibeth Munru was ing but a telerably deep incision, made, sp. particularly needed at that season of the year, led to the dance by Frederick Gordon. "I have inherited so much of my father's parently, by a very sharp stone. The bleeding and her heart told her that it was the figure ! "The handsomest couple in the room by all neck and docile disp sition," said the young had ceased, and she soon succeeded in closing of him for whom she had watched and waited said Frank Stanley. I should not wone nan proudly, with at fronteal smile curling the wound by the help of some narrow strips through the day. But the noble steeds halter der if that should be a match yet. Gordon is She then sented herself by the low window. muffled figure drew the folds of the mantie win her and does not succeed, I don't know hat in matrimonial effice I intend to do se I and tried to recall the events of the day. Dear still more closely about it, and shrank back | who can." And with these words he turned Lily Grey! what a fount of deep, pure, ex- still ferther into its dark corner. Mr. Gordon must charge his tactics. Frede- quisite, yet strange happiness had swelled up The young girl gazed upon the vehicle until chatting mercily at a little dis ance. rick said rightly-he is too much like his in her young heart since she went forth that it faded from her sight; then sinking back Arthur Talmage, he young artist addressed, summer afternoon upon her errand of mercy upon her seat she covered her face with her There was stience between the two for many to old Mrs. Forster's cottage! Yet bright hands. When she removed them, stimough for a few moments, and then murmuringnit uses, but they sat looking in each other's tear-drops were continuedly sparkling in her her cheek was pale as marble there was no "Stanley is right-if he cannot win her when eyes as if reading the soil there. Then An beautiful eyes, and her hands trembled so other sign of suffering. She could not, even can'" he harried from the ball-room. Mobile frew Gordon rose, drew its chair near to his that she could scarcely smooth the shining yet, doubt that the mystery would be explained gifted but poor and proud, he felt that he had son's, and taking his hand kindly in his own, curls that fell without restraint upon her -perhaps after all it was not Frederick, and nothing in come on with that gay throng, and injustice of others; and I at once resolved, "Why, Lily dear !" exclamed the cheerful Gordon left us ! where is he going, pray !" more for your sake than my own, to be rich. voice of Mrs. Mason, "are you here? We "Why, he goes to night," was the reply. It improving the advantage that given him. I toiled early and late; I striggled, in the thought you had not come in yet; and fearing "in their own carriage as far as P---, and Yet at the end of six months he felt go more early part of my coreer, with lardships and you were lost or in some trouble or other, from that place takes the stage to-morrow for secure of her favor than at the time of their difficulties. But at length I was successful -- George started in pursuit of you some time New York. His father tells me that he is to first acquaintance. Her de neanor toward My resources are simple ; yours | should have ago. And now, while he is tramping through sail for Europe in the 'Virginia' next month, him was always course us, and such as because said, but I cannot consent that he wealth, to the woods in search of you, here you are, and will probably remain four or five years." a lady; she received his attentions frinkly, but the accumulation of which I have devoted all ensconced in your own little room sufe as a Amid the hum of voices, the exclamations yet so calmiy and quietly, that it was evident the best years of my life, should to to enrich saint in her niche. But bless me, child ! why, of surprise, the inquiries, and surmises to she felt none of the timidity of dawning love. a beggar. With your talents, your me person, what a wound upon your forehead," and drop- which this intelligence gave rise-for be is Her cheek never brightened at his approachs your graceful and winning address together ping the bantering tone she had before used, remembered, a voyage to Europe wis; much her voice never failered as she addressed blue; with the fortune which I had intend d to place and approaching quickly to Lily's side, the more formidable undertaking then than in her eye never wandered in search of him, not-now, and is said to be very beautiful. There have hid," said her aunt, as Lily concluded white arms once, twice convulsively, and then heart to its innermost depths. He was afine is a clause in her father's will, I am told that her little story. "I suppose that, as in duty sunk slowly to the floor-breathless and in- reader, his voice was deep and thrilling, and will prevent her marrying before she is twenty. bound, you intend falling in love with Mr. animate. Poor, poor Lily Grey. one. You have been long wishing to make Gordon forthwith. I fancy your bright eyes the tour of Europe, and I was thinking, pat had done some mischief in that quarter al- Ir had been a gala day in New York -a day previous to my unfortunate discovery his ready; and now would't it be funny if we of leasting and rejoicing-a day of triumph.

110 - Wish you to do as you choose, Frederick For a long time she can there by the win- Just at dusk Mr. Meson came in from the room.

callous, cold-hearted being which the reader Lily escaped from the family circle soon dreds of dressing-rooms, the young and the And when Frederick Gordon became aware might judge him to be from the soliloguy we ater tea that evening, under plea of fatigue; lovely, sy, and many who were neither, were of this, a shadow deeper and darker than any verheard in the woods. His noble and gen. and, in truth, she felt the need of rest. She decking themselves for the festive scene. At that he had ever before known, resied uperous impulses had for many years given his longed to be alone with her newly born hap. a later hour innumerable carriages were rol- on his pathway. He had returned from Esather a deal of trouble, and even yet, as we pitess; to recall the looks and words that had ling through the streets, bearing their precious rope fully determined to woo and win her for ave seen from his conduct this day, he oc- so brilled her heart. She was young, very freight to the appointed place; and hosts of ti- the sake of her wealth. Love, or any congeasionally acted without any regard to the young, almost a child in years; and she had by, satin-slippered feet tripped lightly up the nishty of feeting that might exist between them almighty dollar." But these instances, of learned that the treasure she had found that broad stone steps and were lost in the crowd was but a secondary consideration. When he ate, been rare. Andrew Gordon was gradu- day was one to be received with fear and within. It was a splendid pageant. There saw her that night in the ball room, more lly moulding him to his will, and even before trembling. She took the angel guest to her were dancing plumes and sparkling gems beautiful almost than his wildest dream of beauecciving the summons to his presence this boson, tearfully, it its true, but oh! most joy. flashing eyes and flower-wreathed curls—the ty, emphatically "the star of the goodly comvening the effect of the lessons that he had fully; and she lay down upon her couch that waving of banners-and over all and surroun panie;" when he learned that the proudest is een taking through his whole life was resum- night o dream only of long, long days of bliss. ding all, a dazzling radiance, shed from the the land had send humbly yet valuly for her ng ite sway, and Ambition or Averice -call She knew, indeed, that something of sorrow massive chandeliers that were suspended, at no favor, pride came to the aid of his merceusry by which ever name best pleases you, was must fail to the lot of mortals; but would not distant intervals, from the lotty ceiling. Two motives, and he resolved to bear off triumpheven the be sweet if shared with him ? With young men -one of them, from his foreign antly the prize for which so many were con-"What is the name of the young lady of such thoughts as these she knelt to offer up dress and ignorance of those around him, evi- tending. But when he was thrown simpst datwhom you were speaking, sir I" he finally her evening prayer, and to bless her Father dently a stranger-were leaning against one ly into her presence the atmosphere of purity "Elizabeth Munro," was the reply, and had sprutg up in her pathway.

How bright and beautiful was every thing "Let me retire now, if you please," said in the outer world when Lily awoke next Frederick, rising; "I would fain think over morning! There had been a shower during the night, and a thousand gems were sparkbreakfast that morning, old Mr. and Mrs. to the duties of the toilet haf a dozen times a day, and Lily had whispered o herself, "Frederick will surely be here to-day ." WE must now return to sweet Lily Grey. But the morning passed and no Frederick with that thought her spirits returned.

- all I hope is that I may injuce you to choose daw; darkness came on, but she heeded it not; village, and turning to Lily, sald----Lily, why And Frank Stanley and Arthur Talmage wisely. Listen to me for awhile, and see if I there was no darkness of the spirit there, and did you not tell us that Fred Gordon was to were not the only ones who arrived at the same do not present this matter be ore you in a dif- ber heart was illumined in its innermost re- leave us to-day ! Of course you knew, as conclusion. One b, one the admirers of Miss for her aunt immediatly exclaimed-"Fred ick Gorden.

in your hands upon your next birthday, (so good lady asked seriously, "What is the matcease.) with all these advantages, I sy, you ter now," replied Lily, and she rapidly sketchwealthest family in the land. There is a ed the occurrences of the afternoon. She did room, and remained there effectually conceal eyes were lit up will enthusias n a he space of young girl, the arphan daughter of one whom not think it necessary to tell the whole story, ed by the gathering shedows. When the Italy, with her sunny ships, her gents of art, I knew in my boyhood, whom I selectel years and was thankful that the blush she felt rising works that to her, seemed the death-knell of and her oppressed and degraded children; of ago as my future daughter-in-law. Her for- to her very forehead, as she mentioned the every hope were pronounced, she did not Greece, with her temples beautiful even letone must be immense, and every advintage name of Frederick Gordon, was concusied by speak, she did not even sigh, but standing mo their decay; of Egypt, that land of fable and her. She is --let me see -- she is about them "Really, quite a romantic adventure you wildly upon the speaker, she threw up her with memories and associations that stir the did bullroom, and as darkness came on, in hun- imperviously drawn between their souls. of voices and murmurs of admiration that gree. without a pang of remorae for the unwor by "Thank you thank you, Frederick. That ling upon every tree and shrub and flower .-- ted the entrance of a young lady, who appear. Incentives that had first led him to seek her .-never so beautiful before; and there was that breathed from her features, the depth of her to his bosom, and called her his own sweet feeling in her violet eyes, that involuntarily wife, with no other dowry than the leve of fixed the attention of the observer, and awoke her pure, trusting heart. You, at last even arms, and gleamed amid the heavy masses of he never drop a tear over thy memor, !

her braided hair. The young men did not speak until she had one of the most spleudid mansions in Waver-Leaves Clarksville for Memphis every Wednes- smile, "upon enacting the lover most admir- Virginia' sails for Europe upon the 20th of her face was radiant with happiness—that crossed the room and was hidden from their ley Pisce, a fair girl had just listened to an ably. May I be allowed to inque who was next month, and this yee, this is the 17th .- most efficacious of all coanciles and her eyes sight by the intervening growd, then drawing impassioned declaration of love from one who of getting a best at Memphis without any detention, the fair damsel who played Juliet to your You have no time to lose—you must start for beamed with added lustres. Perhaps, too, she a long breath, the stranger asked of his companion-"Frank, in the name of all that's test motion of her lips. But the lady spoke beautiful, who is that lovely creature?"

Munro, our belle and fielress."

Miss Munro!" his h

"No," was the reply, "but I have often heard of her." Then after a pause, he added, "Can you present me?" "Certainly, if you wish it," rejoined his friend, and they crossed the apartment. "Miss Monro, permit me to present to you not; the carriage rolled slowly by, and the balf in love already, and if he undertakes to away to join a group of friends who were eazed upon the dencers endly and earnoutly he bent his steps toward his own cheerless

Monro-and their name was leglog - Gropped on, when this valley was an inbroken wilder. ed no upon outward objects-light clearer than Lily was spared the necessity of replying, off until the field was left entirely to Freder-

As may be supposed, he was not negligent It was ne we have said just at duck, and with round her hoping that success would yet be tionless for a moment, with her eyes fixed mys ery, and of the East, throughing as it does when he read or resited the floost passages from shakapeare, Milton or Wordsworth,

"Lending the rhyme of the post

The beauty of his volce." afternoon, that it would be well for you to should have a wedding here, eh Lily ?" And al processions and martial pageantry one of Her cheek would glow and let heatt beat stort immediately, spend the next four years thus she rattled on while they were descending America's most honored wons, one whose days quickly. But all this might be without one in traveling, and still have a year or two at the stairs, and proceeding to the parlor where had been spent in the service of his country, through love for him, and he felt it. He can de your disposal, after your return, to secure you ten was wating, never once dreaming that and whose blood had flown more than once up- but observe, too, that she carefully avoided success with her. But of course it is useless there was any thing like truth in her playful on the battle field, was the guest of the city, everything like infirmacy, and there was any to say any thing about it now, as your own jest. Had she done so she would have been and its inhabitants laying aside for a while their heart communion between them-are never very serious, for she well knew it was no light accustomed avocations, had assembled on musse spoke of themselves; t ere was interchange of Mr. Gordon ceased, and for a long time thing for a maiden to place that priceless to welcome him. The old Park theatre had thought, but none of feeling, and strive as la Frederick sat silently revolving his father's treasure, her young hear's pure love, in an- been converted, for that one night, into a splen- might, he could not lift the well that seemed in Heavet for the new well-spring of joy that of the large pillars, engaged in carnest con- and goodness which surrounded her, made him versation. They used their opera-glasses quite feel much as we may suppose a tailou spirit freely, and were apparently commenting on the might feel to the presence of an angel of beauties around them. At length their atten- light. He could not meet the glance of her tion was drawn toward the door by the hum clear eyes, that glance so holy, so boworldly, scarcely account. She was magnificently at- Alas, poor Life Gray! While thy false lowtired in a tunic dress of light-blue satin, with gr was thus bowing at the shrine of another. were clasped about her throat, her rounded of thee ever awaxen a sigh or a regret! Did

In the large and elegant drawing-room of not; her rapilly varying color was the only av-"That," said Frank Stanley, "that is Miss idence that she had even heard the eloquent words that had just fallen upon her ear. The "Mies Munro!" exclaimed the other, while young man spoke again, and this time his voice his color was considerably heightened, "is that was more law and tremulous than before, for his heart was heavy with doubt and apprehen-

"Elizabeth-Miss Manra-this suspense is very, very terrible, will you not speak to ma?" A strange expression, tike a sudden spasm of pain, passed over the face of the lady for a moment, and then she replied, calmiy-"Did Licar you aright, Mr. Gordon? Did I understand you to sky that you had never breathed

The eyes of Elizabeth Munro were bent tra-e held in Chrksville on the 4th Monday in April, Sil, and pleud, answer, or demur to said bill, or son, Montgomery, Stewart, Cheatham and Dick-and sale of Real and Personal Estate, and in the D. J. FRANKE S. A. FRASER & BRO. The Clarksville Publishing Company

tinue the business at the old stand. Our stock of Silks, Delenes, and Merrinoes. Alsa a good as-sortment of all kinds of goods that we invite all to ver us with a cull at No. 10 Franklin street. S. A. PRASER, & BROTHER.

Melainotypes, Ambrotypes, Sperco-

P. J. YOUNG.

MERCHANT TAILOR. HAS noved on Franklin street, opposite the Court-house. He solicits a share of public patronege. All garments made up and insured to fit in good style. He also intends to keep CLOTHING MADE UP.

Clarkeville, Jan 11, '56-ly

For whom the Public was, a short time since adn onished to keep a sharp look out has at length been found. Full proof about him of all thechar-ges which were preferred egainst him. The charge Steam Boat Agents.

Steam ley occupied by Thomas and Warfield. They all testify that he sell better drugs, better bargains, and waits upon them better ever did before. That he is a skilful purchaser Commission And Forwarding and good judge of drugs, is also proven by the regulation which he has with the Eastern Druggists of being a No I buyer. They say there that bought all his stock of either the MANUFACTURES or IMPORTERS, and thus getting them of first names pleaming from the window in Andrew Gor procured drugs of much better quality, as well as don's mansion, usually occupied by himself. much cheaper than usual. As his stock is NEW He—its ower—sat there alone, with his folder do well to patronize, him. Physciana, Country ting upon them. At length, he arose, and as MERCHANUS and WHOLESALE BUYERS particularly re-

THE PRESCRIPTION DEPARTMENT. shall recieve his most particular attention. No most an angry gleam in his eye. Stepping to but hinself. Scrupulous care accuracy and hands, he looked out for a moment, and ther neatness shall be observed in this department and pone but drugs of the finest quality shall be used raising the sash, he called to a man who stood in the composition of Prescriptions. By ringing in the yard: a hell attached to the front Door he can be aroused at any hour of the night. His terms are six. "John, tell months to punctual dealers. Liberal discount for His stock embraces every thing usually kept in don returned to his seat by the table. his profession. His office is at the Drug Store Drug Stores. In addition to Paints. Druga. Oila, Varnishes,

Rezors and Strops,

Jan 9, '57-3m.

IN THE WORLD.

DANIEL BOONE.

JAS, LEE, MASTER LAND

CHANCERY NOTICE.

Jn . T Marable, vs Thos L. Hobson, Jo, C. Yar-borough, J. W. Cloggett and E. T. Swift, O. Bill, of the State of Tonnessee, so that the ordinary pro-

KEESEE BLACKMAN & CO.,

Agents.

Musical Instruments

Portmounnies,

Game Bags,

Dye Stuffs, Brandies, August 22, 1856 -tf Turpentine, Wines, Glassware, I keep also, Baraing Fluids, Cigars & Tohacco W. J. BROADDUS Clarkwille Tenn. the best assortment of Blank Books & Stationary in the clace. Looking Glass plates Rouge. Flesh Balls, Toilet Preparations, Perfumery: Brushes, (all kinds Gold Pens. Combs. Porket Knives, Pistols.

Buly 11 1856-tf. Faucy articles of every description.

TOBACCO FACTORS AND GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS.

A report having lately been put in circulation In Clarksville, Tennessee, and the vicinity, the ere the undersigned prenounce it false and with-

a. W. BUMPHRETS. the knyille, for four successive weeks, requiring sai none sidents personally to appear before chan-Having a sociated thems-less together in the coll-rat the next term of the Chancery Court to practice of law, are prepared to sitend to all business of a legal character in the counties of Robert-or hearing Ex parte as to them. THOS J. MUNFORD, C. & M. LF Office on Etrawberry Alley, Clarksville, Jan. 30-1y.

Printed Weekly on a double-medium sheet every Friday morning, at $2 Per annum, in advance.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING. $1.00 Two months 1.50 Three months 2,00 | Six months 2,50 | Twelve months

Chartered by the Legislature of Tennessee

POETRY.

BY ALICE CARY. Sunset! A hush is on the air, Their gray old heads the mountain bara

A DREAM OF HOME.

As if the winds were saying prayer. The woodland, with its broad, green wing, Shuts close the insects whispering, And lo! the sea gets up to sing.

The day's last splendor fades and dies, And shadows one by one arise. To light the candles of the skies. O, wild flowers, wet with tearful dew;

O, woods, with starlight shiping through,

My heart is back to-night with you? I know each beech and maple tree, Each climbing brier and shrub I see-Like friends they stand to welcome me

Sweetly believing in my dreams, For fancy like a prophet seems. Footsteps beside me trend the sod, As in the twilights gone they tred;

Musing, I go along the streams,

And I unlearn my doubts, thank God. Unlearn my doubts, forget my feare, And that bad careleseness that sears, And makes me older than my years.

And earth seems made for me alone. If I my fortune could have planned,

But they must fall who learn to stand. And how to blend life's varied hues,

My Father knoweth best to choose.

FY MRS. JULIA C. R. DORR. CHAPTER III.

"John, tell my son to come hither. "Yes, sir," replied the man, and Mr. Gor A few moments had elapsed when Frederick

"Yes," was his father's answer, as he push things to say to you, sir: . I hapened to be an have no fears that you will not gratify me. if river, marking its windings as far a the eye enryassingly beautiful, but it was the swan like the slight est eatho of her footsteps, the mere in the woods, down yonder, this evening. No, own good sense." what passed. You were so taken up with her, previous evening. that you had no ears for any one besides, else . Then you must go at once, this very day," Moson noted with surprise her unwonted love: you must have heard me. Permit me to con- said Mr. Gordon; "there must be no time for liness. She was, indeed, as Frederick Gordon gratulate you," he added, with a mocking foolish regrets and sentimental nosense. The had said, very lovely at all times; but now

"She is a young lady from Massachusetts, I expedite his son's departure.